

A wide-angle photograph of a golf course during the 'golden hour' of sunset. In the foreground, a wooden bridge with a metal railing crosses a small stream or ditch, surrounded by tall grass and reeds. A light-colored path winds through the middle ground, leading towards a green. Two golfers are visible on the green: one in a white shirt and shorts, and another in a dark shirt and shorts. The background is filled with a dense line of trees, and the sky is a soft, warm orange. The overall atmosphere is peaceful and scenic.
